

The WVU Medicine Transition of Care Clinic (TCC) provides patients with a bridge from J.W. Ruby Memorial Hospital to home when timely additional assistance may be needed.

Services offered in the TCC:

- + Review hospital discharge summary and incorporate instructions into the patient's care plan
- + Assistance with:
  - Scheduling follow-up testing, procedures, and appointments
  - Obtaining a primary care provider
  - Securing durable medical equipment
  - Arranging transportation
- + Patient and family education on warning signs for chronic conditions
- + Referrals for:
  - Appointments with specialists
  - Home health services
  - Disease management coordinator and/or case manager
- + Pharmacist available for medication reconciliation and to answer patient questions regarding medication regimen
- + Communication with patient's current PCP to enhance continuity of care

The TCC visit does not replace a patient's primary care provider or primary care follow up. Medicine patients discharged from Ruby Memorial Hospital can be seen in the TCC for up to 30 days following hospital discharge.
