2015: The program's attrition rate was negatively impacted by (1) the limited number of students enrolled each year (3 positions) and (2) the failure of a single student to complete the program. One student enrolled in the 2014 cohort completed the didactic portion of the program in 2015 but failed to demonstrate competency in the clinical and psychomotor aspects of sonography. As a graduation requirement, our program's clinical standards require students to complete a minimum number of sonographic exams at a certain level of proficiency (=>86%). Although the student was afforded extensive one-on-one instructional assistance by the program director throughout the entire 3rd semester, she was unable to transfer the cognitive aspect of sonography into acceptable clinical practice; only completing 11 of the required 20 competencies / proficiencies by the end of the final semester. Therefore, the student did not complete the program. With limited enrollment, this single attrition event caused our program to fall below the 80% benchmark even though we have historically maintained an excellent retention rate. A review of our enrollment for the past 5 years has demonstrated that out of 14 students, only 2 have failed to complete the program for a 5 year attrition rate of 14%. DO NOT REMOVE ACTION PLAN
